

Participation in Sports

Playing sport is a great way to make friends and stay fit and there are many opportunities for deaf and hard of hearing people to play sports.

How to get your child involved

There are a range of options available to support deaf and hard of hearing children participating in sport.

Deaf Awareness Training:

It may be helpful to have someone provide the coach/ teacher/ club with Deaf Awareness Training (DAT) so they can understand how to best communicate and include your child.

Communication Tips:

Some helpful communication tips you could let the coach/ teacher/ club/ umpire know are:

Eye Contact: When speaking with a deaf or hard of hearing person it is best to make sure you have his or her attention and gain eye contact before speaking. You may need to move to make sure that the deaf or hard of hearing child can see you and is close enough to hear you.

Confirm Information: Check to make sure the child has understood what is being said. If they look confused or don't understand try rephrasing what you have said or demonstrate your message.

Show or Demonstrate: Some people who are deaf or hard of hearing may learn best from you showing or demonstrating your message rather than just verbalising it.

Visual Cues: It is helpful to use visual cues when blowing the whistle. Keep in mind that in some sports there may be a lot of noise or the player may be a fair distance away and cannot hear.

Communication method: let the coach/ teacher/ club/ umpire know the best communication methods for your child.

Interpreters: If your child uses Auslan you could have interpreters to help participate in the sport.

Technology: With the advancements in Technology you child may use a vibrating watch or other visual technology to help with playing sport.

If you have a NDIS plan you may be able to have some of the options funded by NDIS.
